

“Web Services for the Next Generation Air Transportation System”

Matthew Peroutka

NWS developers in the Office of Science and Technology (OST) have been working for the past few years to build the tools needed to support the Next Generation Air Transportation System (NextGen). Collaborators have included the FAA, DoD, NCAR, MIT/LL, and other NOAA line offices. This talk will provide an overview of our efforts and some insight into the standards we are using.