

I plan to cover the present capabilities of the EDD and how you can use it in a variety of settings. Most importantly for this venue, how it can expedite R2O.

EDD is a web-based interface used to display cutting edge technology in a GIS-centric manner. It uses a google maps like infrastructure for zooming and panning, but acts much more like a piece of GIS software. It is data flexible, but most of the power comes from a backend geospatial database.